

DISTRICT MEET OF AUXILIARY IN REDWOOD CITY

Many Activities Reported
On—National President
To Speak On Radio

Mrs. Ethel Pontius, president of District Eight of the American Legion Auxiliary announced at the recent meeting of the district in Redwood City that she would give a cash prize of two dollars to the Unit bringing in the most members by May 9. In case of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded. The district needs five members to make the quota set by the state, according to the membership chairman, Mrs. Myrtle Wheeler.

Bed pads are urgently needed at Livermore Hospital and the district rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Catherine Foreman, urged the Units to respond generously. These reports, with those of twelve other district chairmen, were most gratifying in that every phase of the Auxiliary program is going forward.

Four new members were initiated into Redwood City Unit by members of the San Mateo Council drill team. Escort for the distinguished guests was also furnished by the team. These were Mrs. Ethel Flynn, secretary-treasurer of the Department of California; Department Radio Chairman Mrs. Florence Chess and Mrs. Ruth Mathabab.

Mrs. Mathabab has been endorsed as a candidate for Department president the coming year. She has been an active member of the Auxiliary since its inception and has held many state championships and other offices.

Mrs. Chess announced that the National president, Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, will speak over radio station KGO on Sunday morning, May 17, at 11:15. A large representation from the district will attend the luncheon for Mrs. Muckelstone to be held in Berkeley at the Claremont Hotel on May 16.

Mrs. Edith Ackermann told of the dessert bridge to be held in Burlingame Legion Hall at 1:30 o'clock on Monday, May 18, under the chairmanship of the Past President's Parley.

Poppy Posters entered in the district judging lined the walls of the Redwood City Legion Hall and received much attention.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of Mrs. Mary Dudderar of San Mateo Unit and Mrs. May Fitzgerald of Redwood City Unit, who had passed away since the last district meeting. The next meeting will be held in June in San Francisco, at which time election of the district president and vice president to serve for the coming year will be held.

POPULAR SPORT OF MOTORCYCLE RACING STARTED

New Association Of Racers
Formed In Northern California

The 1936 flat track motorcycle racing season for Northern California opened at the San Francisco Stadium, Army and Potrero, streets Wednesday night of this week.

Five towns will be represented in the newly formed Northern California Motorcycle League which will compete through a season of 24 weeks. The teams will be San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno, Sacramento and Stockton. A regular schedule has been arranged with San Francisco being the scene of the races every Wednesday night. League standings will be kept to determine the season's winner.

Manager Sterling Price in announcing the opening of the season declares that flat track motorcycle racing is a sport that originated in Australia and spread from there to England where crowds of 100,000 turn out to watch the speedsters. In this type of racing a rider wears a heavy steel boot on his left foot, which drags on the ground enabling him to keep upright on the unbanked track. In the team competition they will ride four laps around a one-fifth mile track. Manager Price explains that four laps of the strenuous type of riding the boys employ is all that they can possibly endure at one time.

BOARD PASSES ORDINANCE TO BLANKET IN FIESTA COMMITTEE

Adopt Measure Over Strong Opposition From Citizens — Must Vote On Each One Later.

At Monday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors an ordinance was adopted "blanketing in" as members those persons demanded by the old directors of the County Floral Fiesta incorporation.

It was brought out that not one of these seven was actually engaged in floral or horticultural pursuits. The so-called "compromise" ordinance blanketing the seven directors into the new commission for terms of one year only, was adopted by a 3 to 2 vote of the supervisors, following a hectic session.

Supervisor Fred E. Beer of San Mateo moved its adoption, with a second from Supervisor John W. Poole of Redwood City. On the vote, Supervisor High left his colleagues and sided with Beer and Poole. Supervisor Witt and Chairman Manuel Francis cast the dissenting votes.

The fight over the ordinance will be renewed next Monday when Executive Walter T. Kellogg presents the names of the seven fiesta directors for confirmation by the board as members of the commission.

Both District Attorney Gilbert D. Ferrell and Assistant District Attorney Dan R. Sullivan, who drew the "compromise" ordinance, declared it mandatory upon the executive to nominate the directors.

Should the board fail to approve any one of the directors for commissioner, it would immediately invalidate the ordinance, the district attorney and his aide stated.

Supervisor Witt, who led the fight against the ordinance, charged that its clause making mandatory the blanketing in of the directorate, was "unconstitutional" and "will not hold up in court."

"There is a certain group in this county that will tie this thing up in the courts. Then you will have no fiesta," Witt warned the board members. He pointed out that failure to name all the directors invalidates the ordinance and "will put us right back at the beginning."

"I put up last year's battle to appropriate $5000 to the first show, which was questioned by certain supervisors who are so eloquent in praise of the committee now," said Witt.

William E. Pitschke, Daly City publisher, and H. W. Heegstra of Salada Beach led the fight from the floor against the ordinance. Pitschke charged that the demand for blanketing in the directors was "unfair to the board and the people of the county," and accused the directorate of being "hand picked," and as not universally representing the choice of all the people.

TWO THOUSAND IN ATTENDANCE AT BIG BARBECUE AND PICNIC

County Road Workers Make Merry At Frolic On Coastside

The third annual barbecue and picnic of the county road workers was held last Sunday at Charmarita Park, near Half Moon Bay. The affair was attended by over 2000 friends and many old acquaintances were renewed.

At 12:30 p. m. a barbecue dinner was served and enjoyed by all in attendance. Among the many attractions were baseball games, races of all kinds, a tug of war and other amusing and exciting incidents.

A beautiful table model radio was awarded as a gate prize and remained in Half Moon Bay, where the winner resides.

Among the distinguished guests were noted Supervisors Albert Witt, Walter High, Manuel Francis, Fred Beer and John Poole, Coroner Crosby and Superior Judges McNutt and Cotton.

Daly City was represented by the following: Supervisor Albert Witt and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fahey, Jack Fahey Jr., J. H. Cosbie, Mr. Vireno, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Linser and City Councilman Ed Cavagnaro.

The affair was under the direction of Chairman U. S. Marshall, county engineer, who is to be highly complimented on the manner in which every detail was handled. Dancing started at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and extended well into the evening.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF FARMS MAY COME

By J. W. MARCHBANK

In scoring a double with homebreds from my Heather Farm last Saturday at Bay Meadows I demonstrated conclusively what can be done right here when care is taken to select the best blood. As the fans recall, King Heather's daughter Cantrip won the Fresno Handicap and War Cry's daughter Altobank defeated all the good two year olds in the California Breeders Handicap. The performances were all the more noteworthy from the circumstance each filly was top weight in her race.

The "King" has been sending clever performers to the races for a long time, so another in his long record of winners in Cantrip comes as a matter of course. He is showing he is a topnotch broodmare sire, too. Princess Nadette, dam of the champion Altobank, is one of the "Kings" well known producing offspring. Nowhere in the world can a better strain than that of Domino be found and King Heather is inbred to that great progenitor.

It is a hard business building up a successful nursery, but when victors of the class I own come along the reward more than counterbalances all the effort put forth.

Lamentably enough, there are comparatively few breeding farms in the state. One drawback is the lack of a spirit of sportsmanship among men who have a good deal to do with the shaping of the future of racing in the state. With proper encouragement I venture to hope there would be forty or fifty big establishments in various sections of California within a few years.

At present the animating force among dividend-mad race promoters is the old one of getting all the traffic will bear. In this case, of course, it is the traffic into the race courses. That's not the right way to make a permanent thing of either racing or its foundation, the breeding of high class gallopers.

Sportsmen support the game, at whatever sacrifice of purse or time; others bring into the pastime the ruthlessness of "organized greed."

MAY SUCCEED M'CARL

It is expected in Washington that Morris Tremaine, New York state controller, will be appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed John R. McCarl as controller general of the United States. Mr. McCarl's term expires in June.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS F F T E COUNCIL

Poppy Drive Soon — Two Members of Local Post
Seek High Offices

(By W. J. L.)

Old Glory Post No. 2044, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be host to the San Mateo-Santa Clara Counties Council, tonight at the Little Italy Hall.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Old Glory Post will be host to the Ladies County Council and, as this is the meeting before the convention, it is believed that many items of interest will be presented and accepted.

The Council comprises the nine Posts in the counties of San Mateo and Santa Clara and is one of the most active in the Department of California.

The annual Poppy Drive, conducted by the Post, will be held on May 22 to 30 inclusive, and, as this is an annual affair, it is hoped that the citizenry will assist in this noble effort to raise funds for the relief and charitable work done by the Post and its Auxiliary. These poppies are made of American materials, by disabled veterans in America, for Americans. This is the only authorized drive of the Post for funds directed to the public and we feel that with the knowledge that the funds raised are being sent to take care of local cases the public will support the movement.

The Post degree team and Auxiliary drill team are practicing every week in preparation for the competition at the Department convention to be held in San Bernardino on June 14 to 18. This year it is hoped that we may bring back to Daly City the championship degree team, as well as the Auxiliary drill team, and if practice and determination has anything to do with it we have it in the bag now.

The Post has entered two of its members for offices in the V. F. W. this year. Comrade Fred Linser has been endorsed for and is making excellent progress in his fight for Department Junior Vice Commander, Department of California. Comrade R. F. Brulez is campaigning for the office of Council of Administration, Sixth District. Both of these comrades have been active in the Post for several years and deserve to progress within our organization.

RAFFLE OF SET OF SILVER BY LEGION

Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, is now conducting a raffle of a 50 piece silver set, which will be given to the lucky winner at a drawing to be held at our regular dance night, Saturday, July 25. The proceeds of this raffle to go toward paying off the balance due on our hall at 474 San Diego avenue.

This silver set which was donated by Granat Bros., will be on exhibition on Mission street, in Daly City, in the very near future. If you will call Ways and Means Chairman Jakobson, he will gladly supply you with tickets to sell now rather than wait to get them from him at our next meeting, Wednesday of next week.

We have started our monthly dances again. Saturday, May 2, we held the first dance in several months. The music, with the able assistance of Ed Crane, was the best ever and a good time was had by all. We will continue to have one dance a month at our hall, to be held on the last Saturday of each month.

The Sons of the Legion are giving a whist, May 19. Let's all help them. Proceeds to go toward buying their colors.

LONE BANDIT ROBS LOCAL CHAIN STORE OF CASH

Early Morning Holdup Nets
Robber Considerable Cash
From Rifled Register

The MacMarr Store at 6073 Mission street was entered and robbed, Monday morning of this week, by a lone bandit about 9 o'clock.

The man entered the store and ordered the manager, Mrs. Helen Deakin, who was alone at the time, to step behind the counter and lie down on the floor. Then he emptied the contents of the cash register, amounting to $23.

While the bandit was removing the cash from the register he kept his right hand in the pocket of his coat.

Mrs. Deakin called the local police immediately after the bandit had departed. She was able to furnish an excellent description of him and said she would recognize the man if she ever saw him again. She did not actually see whether he possessed a gun or not nor could she tell if he made his getaway in an automobile.

Mrs. Deakin told local authorities that as she was lowering the awning in front of the store she noticed an old automobile containing four strange men parked on the corner of Evergreen avenue and Mission street. She could not say if any of the men were involved in the robbery.

Although Mrs. Deakin escaped injury, she says she was given a thrill which she would not care to live over again.

The bandit has not yet been apprehended by the police.

JUMPING FROG CONTEST HELD

Mark Twain Honored In Unique Celebration At Angels Camp

California's tribute to the great American humorist, Mark Twain, will be observed this year on May 16-17, when Angels Camp, made world-famous by the humorist in his immortal story, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras," holds its annual Jumping Frog Jubilee, a historic reproduction of the famous tale that set the world laughing more than 70 years ago.

Five hundred frogs, some from the Atlantic seaboard and all parts of the Nation, will participate in the international frog jumping contest held on the main street of the town, and which attracts more than 20,000 visitors annually.

A total of 50 deputy sheriffs have been sworn in to see that none of the skulduggery of filling rival frogs with buck-shot, such as was chronicled by the immortal Twain in his original story, written while he was a comparative unknown prospector on Jackass Hill in 1865.

Other important features that make this, California's most unique celebration, will include the mile-long parade of historic vehicles and will include a 14-yoke ox team, 16-mule jerk-line team, buggies, covered wagons and every type of early-day modes of transportation. A pony express race from San Andreas to Angels Camp on Sunday morning will inaugurate the big day of the celebration.

MOUNTAIN PLAY SOON TO BE GIVEN

While male roles predominate in the list of principal characters, in the cast of "ANDROCLES AND THE LION," the supporting cast of some eighty extras includes a number of exceptionally pretty girls, who are now rehearsing for the production of the Shaw drama, on Mount Tamalpais, May 24.

In the cast are a number of well known players, and Mountain Play favorites of former years, including Richard Siprell, Maureen Kidnay, Joathan E. Webb, Edward Macdonald, Sanborn Griffin and Joel Coffield.

Among the newcomers are Hazel Anderson, Doris Pinther, Anne Gail, Fred Booth, William Dall, George Carr, Betty Best, Elsie Broitman, Geraldine Mazza and Sylvia Lucas.

"Androcles and the Lion" will mark the twenty-third annual performance staged by the Mountain Play Association. The unique pageant drama, staged each year, for a single performance only, is nationally known as one of California's typical out-of-door festivals.

The scene of the play is a natural amphitheater, on the slopes of Mount Tamalpais, in Marin County.

Our customers are not
"just numbers"

"We seek to perform in an unroutine way a service which, due to the public's requirements, must necessarily be handled in volume."

—From our Annual Report, year 1935

Two billion, 785 million local and long distance calls were handled by us last year on the Pacific Coast.

We earnestly strive to render a service in which every call is handled as an individual transaction between our patrons. Not one of the millions of calls do we consider "just routine." We want all of our patrons to know that we seek to serve them in a way which will make their service have the greatest possible value for them.

FORD V-8 TRUCKS DO MORE WORK AT LESS COST...

because they have

RESERVE POWER AND EXTRA STRENGTH!

ON long or short hauls—up steep grades—through gravel or gumbo, Ford V-8 trucks have the reserve power to deliver their loads on schedule and no favors asked.

The mighty V-8 engine is conservatively rated by Ford at 80 horsepower—more than is needed for most work. And this is one of the main reasons for a Ford truck's economy. Because, with so much reserve power, the Ford V-8 does its work easier, with less effort. The engine operates efficiently and at low cost because it is usually below "peak." The whole truck, straight through to the rear axle, gives you longer life than would be possible with a relatively under-powered, over-worked unit.

And V-8 power is coupled with extra strength in the Ford truck... Frame, clutch, rear axle—in fact, the whole chassis, including springs, is ruggedly built to insure users the greatest possible freedom from servicing cost.

But the best way of all for you to learn for yourself exactly what a Ford V-8's reserve power and extra strength means, is to try it—on your own job—with your own loads, and check the results. Call your Ford Dealer today. He will lend you a 1936 Ford V-8 truck for an "on-the-job" test, without charge and without obligation.

There was a dense summer fog and the officer on the bridge was becoming more and more exasperated. As he leaned over the side of the bridge trying to pierce the gloom he saw a hazy figure leaning on a rail a few yards from his ship. He almost choked. "What do you think you're doing with your blinking ship?" he roared. "Don't you know the rules of the sea?" "This ain't no blinking ship, guv'nor," said a quiet voice; "this 'ere's a lighthouse."—Answer.

Gets Most Blame

Little Sarah and her little brother quarreled one day. An older sister trying to find which child was at fault finally said: "Oh, I think it was just six of one and half-dozen of the other." Little Sarah began to cry. "I know you mean I'm the half-dozen," she sobbed. "I always get the most blame."

INFLATION PROMISES TO BE WISE COURSE

By J. W. MARCHBANK
 Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

We are on the way to social security and one of the main factors in reaching the goal is CHEAP MONEY.

We must have CHEAP MONEY. With his usual perspicuity President Roosevelt early saw the importance of social security and has been building up a structure of that sort for quite a while. It is one of the dominant issues of the campaign. As has been pointed out by more than one clear sighted student of national affairs, the nightmare of insecurity must be destroyed.

As a result of the inducements offered by the federal Social Security Act, as many as twelve states have adopted unemployment insurance laws; pay roll taxes for old age insurance start next year.

Much interest now attaches to the Frazier-Lundeen bill, which is under discussion at present in Congress. The bill is a thoroughly comprehensive one. It would obtain funds for benefit payments from taxes levied on high incomes, surpluses of corporations and accumulations of wealth.

In brief, the proposed law provides that unemployment, old age, health and other benefits shall be equal to the average weekly wage in a worker's occupation or profession.

In the event of the passage of the legislation a certain measure of inflation, that is, cheap money, will be necessary. That is all to the good.

We all know the evils of deflation, we never want to go through the experiences of that kind again. What we want is purchasing power and the way to get it is through he issuance of plenty of currency.

We take the following from "On With Roosevelt News," which, in its turn, took it from the Congressional Record:

If we have ever faced the peril of removal of the Capitol of the Nation from Washington to Moscow, it was back in 1932 and early 1933. The banks in every state except South Carolina had been closed by gubernatorial action. More than 6000 banks, with deposits of over three billions, had failed during the Hoover administration. A steady decline in purchasing power was the inevitable result.

Countless urban residents were no longer able to pay decent prices, even for the bare necessities of life. Consequently, the cotton grower, the tobacco grower, the cattle rancher, the corn-hog raiser, and the wheat farmer each was obliged to accept ruinously low prices for his product.

The vicious circle of deflation was completed; factory employment diminished almost to the vanishing point and workers had no money to buy either their own products or those of the farms; the farmers' purchasing power almost completely disappeared and they could buy nothing from the factories.

President Roosevelt's forthright action in declaring the banking holiday and providing for orderly reopening of such banks as were still solvent, and the expeditious liquidation of the institutions that could not continue operations undoubtedly salvaged the credit of America.

Even conservatives of the type of Governor Earle of Pennsylvania see through the foolishness of much of the talk against men such as President Roosevelt, who are forward looking but not in any sense radical. Governor Earle recently said to the delegates of an American Legion convention of his state:

"I warn you that our civilization is in danger if we heed the deceptive cries of special privilege, if we permit our men of great wealth to send us on a wild goose chase after so-called radicals while they continue to plunder the people. We are constantly told of the evils of socialism and communism. The label is applied to every man, woman and child who dares to say a word which does not have the approval of Wall Street."

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, May 10, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Isaiah 2: 22). Other Bible citations will include: "Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3: 5-7).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real man is spiritual and immortal, but the mortal and imperfect so-called 'children of men' are counterfeits from the beginning, to be laid aside for the pure reality. This mortal is put off, and the new man or real man is put on, in proportion as mortals realize the Science of man and seek the true model" (p. 409).

The 1936 Studebakers are "easy to look at" because of their graceful lines. They look youthful and responsive—and they are!

That's why they're "easy to drive." On hills they stop and restart without rolling back an inch. That is because of the automatic Hill Holder, exclusive with Studebaker.

Over 40 miles per hour they fairly glide, because of the overdrive. The motor works 2 miles to speed the car 3 miles.

Before you buy a car at any price you owe it to yourself to drive a 1936 Studebaker.

VOLKMAN LOOKS FOR WIN AS STATE LEAGUE TANFORANS TACKLE MODESTO SUNDAY

Not too successful in the first round of State League competition just ended, Daly City Tanforans will start all over again in round-robin games commencing next Sunday. Each team meets the others four times in the course of the league, and the Daly City boys will travel to Modesto to engage the Reds for the second time Sunday.

WON LAST TIME

Manager Ray Volkman's boys hold a previous 7-4 decision over the Modestans, who last year won championship honors in the state loop.

Although Modesto can boast of but one victory so far, they are still a dangerous club, as can be gathered from the fact that they outthit almost every team they meet. Last week they outthit the San Mateo Blues, 17-12, but came out on the short end of a 10-6 score.

Corbelli, Anti and Best are three of the heaviest sluggers in semi-pro circles, and, although the Daly City team had little trouble in getting to pitcher Simoni last time, the Reds might start Ferriolo on the mound Sunday.

STURTEVANT CONTINUES

Volkman will string along with big Bill Sturtevant on the mound; Johnny Burke at first; Killilea at second; Lou Palmieri at the hot corner; and Johnny Vasquez at the shortstop patch. Hailer, Kellman and "Tex" Petrocchi will patrol the outfield regions, with Volkman behind the plate.

The experience the new Daly City team has obtained in the first round should stand them in good stead from now on, and they should win at least two more games than they did in the games just completed. Also, none of the other outfits have seen Jack Gertsberg, relief pitcher, do mound work yet, although Volkman intends to use Sturtevant unless something goes wrong.

FRESNO TIGERS BEAT TANFORANS

Daly City Rally Stopped In Last Inning After Two Runs Scored

Art Ramage's league-leading Fresno Tigers brought their string of victories to four straight when they stopped a last inning rally by the Daly City Tanforan State League tossers to win out 6 to 4, Sunday at Fresno.

Although Bill Sturtevant and Ace Michaels staged a mound duel through most of the contest, the game was marred by errors on the part of both teams, Daly City making three miscues while the Tigers were responsible for four.

The Fresnoans held a four to nothing lead going into the sixth inning, but Burke and Kellman tallied for the locals in the sixth to make the game closer. Fresno scored in the seventh, extending their lead to 6-2, but the ninth saw Daly City making a rally which was cut short when Michaels whiffed Petrocchi to end the game. Gertsberg, batting for Volkman, got a single and cored on Vasquez' hit in the final frame.

Johnny Vasquez, hard-hitting shortstop, led the locals at the plate, getting three safeties for five trips to the bat, while Burke at first base and Kellman, center-fielder, each collected two for four.

Meanwhile the San Mateo Blues disposed of the Modesto Reds, 10-6,

Former Prep Girl Star May Go To Olympics

That Jefferson High School, rated low in P. A. L. athletic circles, may send a graduate to the Olympics loomed as a fact today, when women's track records were being looked over for possible Olympic hopes.

Miss Martha Worst, who graduated from Jefferson in 1927, definitely established herself as a candidate for world competition when she set a new record in the javelin throw, Sunday, at Menlo Junior College, tossing the spear a distance of 132.11 feet. She also won the high jump event with a leap of 4.8.

Although an outstanding athlete in school, Miss Worst did not attract attention until she distinguished herself in women's sports connected with various local clubs after graduation. Besides her track records, she is noted as a swimmer and basketball player.

PREP BASEBALL NINE IN FINALE

Led by Howard Petersen with a batting average of .423, the Jefferson Indians battle Sequoia High tossers today at the Daly City diamond to see who gets second place in P. A. L. standings.

After the game Coach Al Biggs' men will hang up their suits for the remainder of the season. Biggs will lose seven players for next year by graduation. They are: George and Paul Ragghianti, Elmer Arthurs, Harry Rose, John Green, Bill Elder and Howard Petersen.

C. Y. O. Midgets Pitcher Throws No Hit Game

Jack Haran joined the C. Y. O. hall of fame last week when he pitched a not hit, no run game for Our Lady of Perpetual Help Midgets against the St. John Lightweights.

The Daly City chucker struck out half of the men to face him while his teammates scored eighteen runs to swamp the St. John midgets in the C. Y. O. league. The local team is managed by Louie Glavich, former St. Ignatius prep athlete.

Charles Murray, Daly City catcher, slashed out four hits, while Cliff Blum got three and Bob Cullen two.

The score: AB R H
St. Johns 18 0 0
Perpetual Help 36 18 13

INDIAN CINDER MEN COMPETE

With chances of gaining points very, very slim, Coach "Moose" Disbrow will enter his well organized Jefferson High School track team in the P. A. L. meet at Stanford tomorrow.

This is the first year track has been attempted at the local school, consequently Disbrow's proteges have not won any meets. However, he figures to build up his material gradually and eventually put out a championship squad.

Bob Lee, who has been Jefferson's most consistent point gatherer in the mile and broad jump, will be ineligible to compete in the meet. Aragon, hurdler; Jacoby, a good 880 prospect; Axt, Stansbury, Telleria and Wilson are the Indian hopes for possible places.

TANEO JUNIORS PLAY AT NOON

Lucia Will Start On Mound Sunday For Local Team

Hoping to continue their winning streak, Manager Eddie White's Daly City Tanforan Juniors will meet the strong Dr. Orwitz nine on the Jefferson High diamond, Sunday at 12 o'clock.

Although he has not yet signed up all the players he wants, White will start practically the same team that beat the Spanish A. C. last week. Gene Keagle, who was something of a sensation as a pitcher here a few years back, has not yet worked into form, so Sam Lucia will get the mound assignment.

Harry Krone, veteran catcher, will take the backstop duties with Tim Long on first. Mo Plansky at second, Dave Johnston at third, Schmidt at shortstop and Joe Lucia and Kondeff in the outfield. White hasn't yet selected his other outfield starter.

ATTENTION

All boys between 12 and 16 years of age wishing to play baseball, please see Fred Franciscani, 3308 San Jose avenue. Fred will manage the Sport A. C. Juniors.

SPORT A. C. WINS

The Sport A. C. defeated the Coastside A. C., 16 to 11, in a game of many base hits and errors.

The Sport A. C. took the lead in the first inning and held it throughout the game, but the losers kept right on their heels and came close to taking the lead several times. The game was called in the sixth inning because of overtime.

Lefty Bill Kelley and Ed Pritula pitched for the winners, but a few costly errors behind them allowed a couple of runs to score for the losers. Ottavio Tolovi did the catching for the winners. He also was the hitting star of the day driving in five runs. He hit the longest ball of the day when he doubled to left center with the bases loaded in the first inning.

This is the second time the Sport A. C. defeated the Coastside A. C. and it also marked their fourth straight victory.

SYNOPSIS

The Duke, Barry Gilbert, likable youth of twenty-three, jobless and broke, enters an unoccupied summer home in Southampton, seeking shelter from a storm. He makes himself at home. Dying at the fireplace, he is startled by the arrival of a butler, Willetts; and a chauffeur, Evans. He learns that the son of the owner of the house, Jack Ridder, whom the servants had never seen, is expected. He decides to bluff it out. His supposed parents have left for Germany. Next morning he is given a letter for his "mother." He opens it and finds a message from the real Jack, saying he could not come, and returning a hundred-dollar bill. The boy's father had pensioned him into obscurity. Barry pockets the money, intending to return it later. He orders Evans to take him to Montauk, intending to disappear there. On the way he meets Judge Hambridge and his daughter, Patricia. Believing he is Jack Ridder, she invites him to dinner the following Thursday. Barry returns to Southampton, deciding to stay a bit longer. Mr. Ridder, Sr., through his newspaper, the Globe, accuses Judge Hambridge of taking orders from Tammany Hall in a condemnation proceeding. Barry meets Peter Winslow, prominent attorney. Winslow tells Barry that Judge Hambridge had seen an accident in which a woman was killed by a taxicab. At home Barry finds the wife of the real Jack Ridder awaiting him. Her husband is in jail in New York, charged with the murder of Mike Kelly, Tammany boss. The girl, Peggy, tells Barry how she had met Jack in Florida and married him, as Jay Rogers. Jack lost his job, and they went to New York, where she got work at the Coconut Bar. There she was accused of trying to pick the pocket of Mike Kelly, and was arrested. Her husband went to Kelly's to induce him to drop the charge. Later Kelly was found dead, his skull crushed by a decanter.

"That was a lucky break for you, because, if he'd been here, he'd've had you chucked right out of the front door. Think, kid! He hasn't spoken to his son for years. Paid him fifty dollars a week not to use the family name. And then a cabaret girl turns up to say she's married the boy, and he committed murder—or was accused of it—because somebody caught her picking pockets in a night-club."

"It doesn't sound good—the way you put it."

"That's nothing to the way he'd put it. But he's not here. And that's not the best of your luck. The best of your luck is that I am."

"Why?"

"Because I can help you, and I'm going to. I am—if you'll let me. If you'll let me go on being John Clarke Ridder, Jr."

"Oh, that's the game, is it?"

"Listen. John Clarke Ridder, fake, can be the best friend John Clarke Ridder, real, ever had in his life. I can get Winslow to take your case, if he don't know I'm a fake. I can get Judge Hambridge to use his influence, and that's plenty. I can get money from home, because I'm making good. Look—read that!"

He darted across the room, and to the table drawer, returning with the letter from Mrs. Ridder.

"Read it quick! 'Any shock might prove serious. He must change his will.' And he still reads the papers. All right. What if he does read about a bum, named Jay Rogers, that married a night-club girl and is on trial for killing a Tammany boss. Jay Rogers don't mean a thing. But, if he reads that John Clarke Ridder, Jr., did all this, on top of everything else he's done, what's the answer?"

"What's the answer if he don't?"

"The answer then is that a noble young fellow, named John Clarke Ridder—and that's me—gets a whole lot interested in an unfortunate guy named Jay Rogers. Why? Because he believes him to be innocent—that's why. And, don't make any mistake, a guy like Ridder believing it's going to start a lot of other people believing it, too. I write my mother that I've got to have money to carry on the fight, and I get it, because the old man decides I can't be so bad, after all. Maybe he gets his newspaper into the scrap—not for his own son, which wouldn't help much, but for a stranger. Whether that happens or not, I'll get a job and a lawyer, and use 'em both for you. I'll use all the family influence for you. And, when it's over, and your husband's acquitted, I'll be in some position to talk to the old man for you."

"What if he isn't acquitted?"

"You've got to face that chance, either way."

Peggy looked at him with hard eyes.

"You're a pretty smart fellow," she said. "Pretty smart—if you can talk me into keeping my mouth shut while you get the money, and the position, and everything my husband ought to have."

"Will he get it if I don't? Use your nut, Peggy. What do I gain? If you spill the beans tonight, what good does it do you? And what harm does it do me? Maybe I go to jail for a few weeks. But it don't get your husband out of jail, does it? This way might, and it's the only way. Think it over."

"Will you answer me one question?" the girl asked.

"Shoot."

"If you've nothing to gain, why are you doing this?"

The Duke had been pacing the room. He stopped short now, and his clenched hands fell limp at his sides.

"Damned if I know," he responded.

They could hear the clock ticking in the hall.

Then it struck two.

"All right," Peggy said, at last. "I'm going to play it your way. Where do we go from here?"

"I think you'd better go to bed," the Duke answered.

"Here?"

"Why not?" grinned the Duke. "You've got a whole lot more right here than I have. There's a guest-room that Willetts always keeps ready."

The girl hesitated.

"What time can I get back to New York?" she asked.

"There's a good train around nine o'clock."

"All right."

Barry opened a door the other side of the library, and switched on the lights. "There you are," he said.

"All right."

"It just struck me," he remarked. "You don't suppose your husband might have given his real name?"

"No. But that's one reason I want to get back. You better come with me, too. I think you're on the level, but I'm not so sure Jack's going to think so."

"O. K.," Barry assented. "Breakfast at eight. Good night, Mrs. Rogers."

"Good night, Mr. Ridder."

She smiled, a wan ghost of a smile. Standing before the dying fire, Barry exclaimed: "What a damned fool I am!"

and stuffed the letter into his pocket. The newspaper lay before him, and, with it, he came back to the hearth. "Let's see what it's all about," he said.

The story filled the first page, and overflowed onto the second and third. Judge Hambridge's eagerly-awaited decision was crowded into an upper corner of the fourth page, with a two-column picture of the Judge. There was no editorial comment. Evidently, there hadn't been time for that yet.

"For some unexplained reason," the paper said, "the murder was not reported to the police until nearly noon." The body had been found by the Filipino servant shortly after eight that morning. Mike Kelly's skull had been fractured by a single blow with a heavy cut-glass whiskey decanter that lay close by, its contents still undisturbed. There was no sign of a struggle.

The Filipino boy's yarn was straight enough. Kelly had come home just before eleven o'clock. He was a little drunk, the boy admitted. He had let himself in with his latch-key, and gone straight to the dining room, where he rang violently. The boy had responded, and got out the liquor and the glasses. Then a young man had called. His name was Rogers, the boy remembered, and he said he had known Kelly in Palm Beach. Kelly had said, "All right; show him into the drawing room," and the boy had done so, and brought in the tray. Then he had gone back downstairs to the servants' quarters.

A little while later, he had heard angry voices in the drawing room, and had listened outside, in the hall. What he had heard was pretty much what the girl had repeated, but there were a few additions. In the way of threats from the visitor. The Filipino decided that it was none of his business, and returned to his room. Ten minutes later, anxious in spite of himself, he remounted the back stairs. As he reached the top, he heard the drawing room door closed noisily, and saw the caller hurry into the hall and through the front door, which he banged after him. It was then nearly midnight. The Filipino had been on duty since seven that morning, and, reassured, he tiptoed down the stairs, and went to bed. That was all he knew until, eight hours later, he came upon Mike Kelly's body lying face-down on the floor.

The Duke was just about to go to bed himself, when he noticed a small headline. "Artist's Wife Crushed by Taxi." That would be the accident that upset Judge Hambridge.

"I might talk to Winslow at the Hambridges," he thought, sleepily. "But I guess Peggy's right. Better see Jack first. I've got a date with Winslow at his office on Monday."

The hall clock struck three. Nevertheless, the Duke was up an hour before breakfast.

He shaved, and bathed, and tossed a few things into an over-night bag he'd seen in the closet. Emerging, he ran into Willetts.

"Breakfast for two," the Duke ordered. "Mrs. Rogers and I are taking the 9:27 to New York."

He thought the butler looked at him sharply.

As their train left Southampton, Peggy looked even shabbier in her cheap black dress and her little red beret. Her face was very white, for want of make-up or sleep. "It's funny," she said, awkwardly, "but I sort of feel that everything's going to be all right now."

"Why don't you and the boy move out here?"

"To stay, you mean?"

"Sure. I can square it with Willetts. Come along, the end of the week, Peggy. After all, it's where you belong, you know."

"I belong with Jack," she said. "And, anyway, has it struck you that the old man might come back unexpected? He's been mad six years. What's he going to do when he finds out about all this?"

"Well," Barry hazarded, "if we've got his son out—"

"He won't care," Peggy interrupted, her voice again hard and pitiful. "He never did."

wanted to be a violinist. He could've been, too. But the old man found he was taking lessons. 'I don't want any jazz-banders in my family,' he snorted. 'You're going to take my place when I die.'

"That started it. He'd always been hard on Jack. Bossy, the old man is. And you can't boss Jack. He got another fiddle. He was good on it, too. When he went up to Harvard, he used to play it at parties."

"When his father heard about that, he threatened to cut off Jack's allowance. So Jack stopped fiddling, and began to drink. And, one night when he was awful drunk, he wrote the old man's name on a check. He tried to get it back the next day, but the bank had turned it down, and the guy he'd given it to was sore, and had Jack arrested."

"Jack had sold his second fiddle to make good. He never got another one. The old man cut Jack loose. He came up to Boston, with a newspaper that printed the story in his hands. Cold as ice, he was. 'You've disgraced me,' he said, 'and you'll go on disgracing me, if I'll let you. I won't. You can go where you like and do what you please, but not with my name. If you ever use that again, you can starve.'"

Peggy turned to the window.

Then, abruptly, "How are we going to get in to see him?" she asked. "You're his wife," Barry answered. "And you?"

"I'm his friend. And my name's Ridder."

Even Peggy's story didn't quite prepare the Duke for that meeting with his other self.

He'd rather expected to see one of those weaklings who find the world a vast conspiracy against them.

John Clarke Ridder, Jr., proved to be merely a frightened youngster. A slim, rather frail lad in his early twenties, with soft, dark hair, and large, dark eyes, and a peculiarly sensitive mouth. His hands were soft and sensitive, too, but there was nothing effeminate about the boy. "Gee, I'm glad to see you, Peg," he blurted. "I was getting a little bit worried."

Peggy's presence reassured him. Evidently, he counted on her, and felt safe while she was with him.

"Jack," she said, quietly and significantly, "I've brought your friend, Mr. Ridder. He's going to help us."

"That's great," he observed.

Fortunately for them, the guard had other things on his mind. He kept disappearing, and coming back, and looking away from them to a paper that someone had given him, and that seemed irritating. In a low voice, Peg outlined what had happened, and the conclusion that had been reached.

The boy turned to Barry.

Young, frightened, and soft, he could reason quickly, and talk straight.

"I don't understand," he said to the Duke. "If these people will do things for you, because they think you're Jack Ridder, why won't they do 'em for me, when they know I'm Jack Ridder?"

"Because they like me. They've never met you. And because my record's clear. I'm not accused of murder under circumstances that—well, they don't sound pretty, at first, do they?"

"They do not."

"And, of course, there's your mother."

The sensitive mouth tightened. Barry gave him the letter he had shown Peggy.

The lad read it.

"The old man's got her buffaloed," he remarked; "same as he's got everybody else. O. K. I wouldn't have used my own name, anyway. Letting you use it's another thing, but Peggy thinks you're straight, and she's never been wrong yet. It's a queer game, but I'll sit in. What next?"

Barry was relieved. The guard had been showing his paper to a colleague. Quickly, he mapped out his plans—so far as he had any. "I've got a date with Peter Winslow on Monday. And I'm going to cable your mother—for money. We've got to have that. I hope to get a job pretty soon, and make my own way, but, just now, there's less than a hundred and fifty dollars in the kitty, and I'm going to give most of that to Peggy for current expenses. You'd better write your mother, too—the kind of letter you'd write in answer to that. If you were in my shoes, I'll bring you the stationery, and, of course, I'll mail your letter from Southampton. We'll have to smuggle it out of here, I suppose. Now, tell me exactly what happened the night before last."

The story differed very little from the one Barry had heard, but it was full of shrewd questions that hadn't occurred to him.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

If you feel run down and tired, and things aren't going so well with your job, try to steal a week or so away from the town and make a short trek through the woods.

I recommend a short trek, because it takes a tenderfoot a little while to get accustomed to sleeping out of doors, and eating the sort of camp food that he is likely to cook for himself.

But perseverance will help you along.

Don't load yourself down with a lot of dunnage. Take some good serviceable food like potatoes and bacon and bring along a couple of blankets and a rubber sheet to put over you when it rains.

Three or four days of hard pelting rain, which penetrates your clothing to the skin and trickles down the back of your neck will be likely to discourage you.

Learn how to make a tent out of your rubber blanket, and to pitch it on high ground, so that you won't wake up in a mountain torrent.

Don't have any particular objective.

If you see a hill top that looks as if it would provide an interesting view, climb to the crest of it, and look around at the landscape.

Learn how to build a cook fire—just a little one, the kind that an Indian makes.

If you make a big one you will have to stand ten or fifteen feet away from it, and then the heat will not reach you.

You can crouch above a little one, and cook your bacon over it without burning your fingers.

Take a compass along, for some people have no sense of direction, and you may be one of them.

Keep your eyes open all the time. When you hear some kind of an animal rustling in a tree, stop and stand motionless. By and by his curiosity will get the best of him, and you can get a look at him.

There is no better fun in the late summer or in the autumn than trekking through a strange country, growing more and more sure of yourself and of your ability to live on very little food, and still never be hungry. If you can, choose a terrain near a mountain side or a sizeable river, with a deep high wood not very far away.

Before you start learn about mushrooms and the kind that can be eaten. Bring a bird book and an animal book along and a good pair of field glasses.

If you are careful you won't need any guide, and it will tickle you to think how well you can get along without one.

Don't go alone if you can find the right kind of a companion. But don't be afraid to go alone if you can't.

No right thinking intelligent person will ever be afraid of a friendly forest.

I do not know what kind of newspapers the Borgias boys had, if any.

But if they had newspapers, or even a poor substitute for them, you can make up your mind that there was no free press in their day.

As soon as knowledge became as much as 10 per cent universal, the kind of tyranny that was prevalent in medieval days disappeared.

As soon as the public—even long before there was any such thing as general suffrage—began to know what was going on, oppression was doomed.

People had learned to read long before Louis the Fourteenth established his absolute monarchy.

But there was no honest newspaper to let the public know what was going on in Versailles. Had there been the people of Paris would not have waited so long for the revolution that started them on their way to freedom.

In every country where there is freedom of the press and freedom of speech there is liberty.

You may not agree with the newspapers you read. You may not fully agree with any newspaper.

But if there were no newspapers you would never find out what is going on, or what was likely to happen.

Editorial comment is made of course, but the news from the White House comes to you exactly as it is issued.

And that is as it should be.

Your newspaper is the window through which you look out on the nation and on the world.

If you read it every day, and from one end to the other, you will be a well informed man, and from the information you thus receive you can make your own opinions, and shape your own political course.

All over the world trained and intelligent men are finding out for you what has happened during the last twenty-four hours, and are ready to tell you about it.

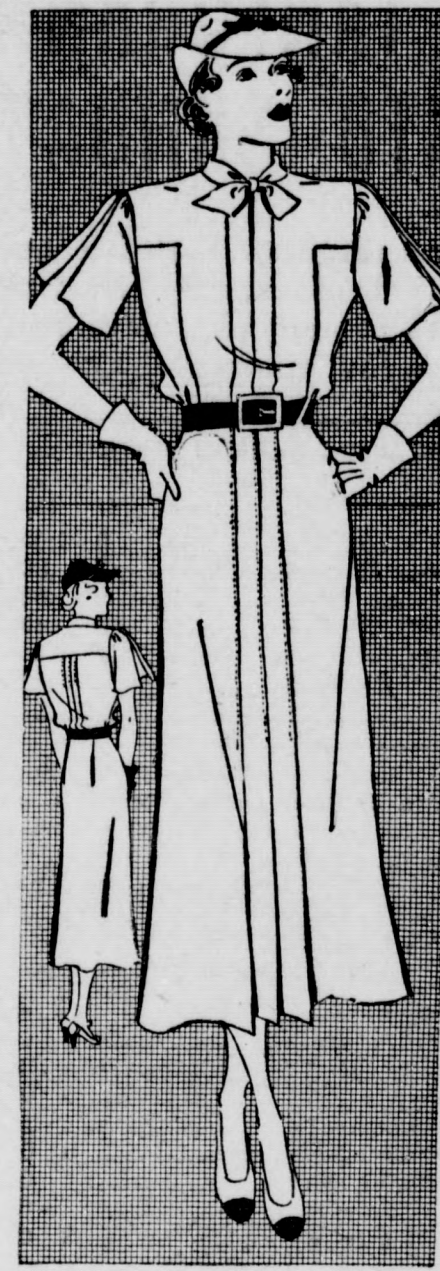

Don't skim your paper. Read it.

It gathers for you the news of the world, it opens to you a broad avenue to education.

Without its aid you would be powerless to make a decision on election day or to understand the meaning and trend of the events of the day.

I believe that the first hour in every school day should be devoted to a thorough reading of a good, honest, upstanding newspaper.

New Slit Sleeves and Youthful Bodice Go With This Spectator Sports Frock

Pattern No. 1868-B

Some are chosen and some are not, as you remember. And this is one of the "summer" chosen! A pretty bad pun, but this perfectly stunning spectator sports frock makes up for it. And you can wear it yourself when summer sets in if you'll send for the pattern now.

It is surprisingly easy to make, and with the aid of the step-by-step chart, illustrating the cut and fit of the new slit sleeves and the way to pleat and stitch-up the youthful bodice, you will immediately realize how automatically it goes together. The bodice has a lot of blouse to it, even makes you suspect that it's held underneath by an elastic band, and the side pleats of the skirt harmonize beautifully with the action pleats in the back blouse.

JUNIOR OUTFIT WINS AGAIN 4-2

Johnston Stars At Third—Long Hits Triple With Men On

Getting off to their second victory in as many starts, the Daly City Tanforan Juniors took the measure of the Spanish A. C., 4-2, Sunday at the Jefferson High School diamond.

The Juniors bunched three hits by Sam Lucia, Dave Johnston and Kondeff in the third inning to put over two runs, after allowing the Spaniards two tallies in the first frame. The other scores came in the sixth when Joe Lucia singled and Tom Long came through with a triple and scored on a fielder's choice.

Dave Johnston, moved from shortstop to third base, garnered three hits and dug two hard hit balls out of the dirt to grab a hand from the crowd for the locals, while lanky Tom Long at first knocked out a double and triple in three tries to take slugging honors.

Sam Lucia went the full route for the Juniors, allowing only six hits while his teammates touched Pitcher Dimonayoni for nine bingles.

Jefferson High Tossers Lose to Halfmoon for 1st Time in Thirteen Years

Although they collected only six hits to their opponents' fifteen safeties, Half Moon Bay High School went down in history Friday as the first Artichoke baseball team to beat the Jefferson High tossers in thirteen years, when they took the measure of the Indians, 2 to 1.

The Jefferson team hit the ball all over the lot, but was unable to score more than once. Paul Ragghianti, Indian first sacker, collected three hits for four attempts to lead his team at the plate. Ogo, Artichoke shortstop, got two for four.

BEAT SAN MATEO

Having abandoned hopes of retaining their P. A. L. baseball championship to the flashy San Jose High horsehide stars, Coach Al Biggs' Jefferson nine nosed out San Mateo High, 10-9, Monday at San Mateo.

The Indians got fourteen hits to ten for San Mateo.

The game was marred by sloppy playing, each team making five errors.

Howard Petersen, fleet Jefferson outfielder, led his team at the plate with three hits, one of which was a triple, while Bill Elder slapped out a home run. Harry Rose and Ed Owens also garnered two safe blows each.
